Hebrew burial methods of the time.

Karen Pearson I believe the Shroud originates from a mediaeval evangelistic effort. Scenes from the Bible and the life of Jesus were painted and used in a display, along with verbal presentations, to present the gospel. The Shroud was the illustration of Jesus' death and burial in the tomb. The artist tried to make it a realistic depiction of Jesus. After the exhibition was no longer used, this one illustration was kept with reverence, possibly because of it's sombre nature or that it showed Jesus' face clearly. It was preserved long after all the other illustrations had disappeared. Over centuries, nearly all the original pigment faded and only a faint image remained, where the pigment had either reacted with the cloth or deeply stained it. This explanation is consistent with research done on The Shroud.

Michael Swenson Karen Pearson then you believe that medieval persons had access to advanced technologies as yet unknown to the modern world. <https://www.shroud.com/> or you can watch the latest documentaries explaining how it would be almost as miraculous as the authentic burial cloth of Jesus Christ that scientists conclude that it is; in order for someone to have created it in medieval times. (in other words, modern experts still cannot explain it as there are no known methods for recreating it today)

Michael.... it does not really matter what amazing things may be said of the SOT, it cannot be the burial cloth of Jesus. You may as well say there is overwhelming evidence that I live in France..... but if I don't live in France, you have to accept that there is a different explanation for the evidence you are looking at..... eg. a different person. Michael Swenson Alan Beasy I have read it. At no point does an account stating multiple pieces of cloth were used discount that of those multiple pieces ONE was the Shroud (as is typical of such burials.) Again, two of the Gospels tell us a wealthy disciple of Jesus Christ purchased ONE linen cloth for His burial. (wealthy people typically will HONOR the deceased, and the Shroud of Turin is such a piece of fine linen) Joseph a disciple of Christ purchased a burial cloth to honor Him. (the very existence of the Shroud lends credence, let alone the recorded findings in examining it) <https://biblehub.com/mark/15-46.htm> and <https://biblehub.com/matthew/27-59.htm> piece was wrapped around the head.

 "Nicodemus, who had previously come to Jesus at night, also brought a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about seventy-five pounds.
 So they took the body of Jesus and wrapped it in linen cloths with the spices according to the Jewish burial custom". John 19:39-40
 "Simon Peter arrived just after him. He entered the tomb and saw the linen cloths lying there. The face cloth that had been around Jesus' head was rolled up, lying separate from the linens cloths". John 20:6-7
 Now.... regarding the "educating" of the "world's leading experts on the topic".
 Your problem is misplaced logic.
 If experts in world geography claimed the tomb of Jesus was found in Bethlehem, we would not believe them just because they were "experts"
 In the same way, SOT scientists are only expert in the TOPIC of the SOT.... and all their claims mean nothing if Jesus was not buried under a single sheet.... but rather, as described by John, was buried with strips of linen wound around his body with a separate piece for the head.
 Therefore, you can continue exclaiming awe and wonder about the SOT, but thinking people will not fall for it regardless of all the scientific hocus pocus.
 Thankfully, the resurrection of Jesus does not require any proof other than the testimony of the witnesses who were there.

You speak of "non-sequiturs"..... and thanks for the explanation of what they are. You are correct. So why do you keep presenting "evidence" that has no bearing on the facts..... the fact being that the SOT cannot be the burial cloth of Jesus according to the bible. Therefore you should take your own advice and stop giving false testimony...as per Proverbs 6:19.

Like · Reply · 2d

Michael Swenson Alan Beasy the only person demonstrating irrational ranting is you. nothing you claim makes any sense whatsoever. at least those who claim it was faked or a fraud have some reason(s) for doing so; even if unsubstantiated. but you seem to be implying that a burial cloth fitting the precise details of the manner in which Jesus Christ died, a unique one of a kind artifact, the most scientifically studied artifact on earth throughout all history, was of someone else other than the Messiah. Yup all the wars it survived, fires, were to preserve a burial cloth of someone other than our Lord Jesus Christ, who died in the exact manner, location and time as he did. (THAT point of view is most definitely irrational.)

Alan Beasy Michael Swenson Oh dear..... Michael, Michael, Michael. You are using what is called logical fallacies. The SOT is a single sheet. Jesus was not laid in the tomb under a single sheet. The bible tells us that Jesus was "wrapped" in linen strips - with embalming - as per the Hebrew tradition, with a "separate" head cloth.

All the "theories" about the image on that SOT cloth..... such as nuclear transfusion..... are irrelevant if we know Jesus was wrapped in linen cloths (plural) with a separate head cloth.

John 19:40. Wrapped..... according to Jewish burial custom. Strips of linen. strips.....strips.....strips..... John 20:5-7

Alan Beasy Michael Swenson Michael Swenson Thanks Michael. Your extended thesis on the deity of Christ is unwarranted.....

As I said Michael, knock yourself out..... believe what you want. I happen to be unconvinced about the SOT and thankfully I do not need to rely on such things.

I do not doubt the existence of the Eternal Creator..... nor do I doubt the historicity of the contents of the Holy Bible, and the Divinity of our Lord, Jesus Christ.

Michael Swenson Naysayers need to comprehend the fact that the shroud of turin underwent THOUSANDS of tests by the world's leading scientific experts! THOUSANDS of details that CONFIRM it as authentic. Naysayers (including Alan Beasy) need to examine those findings before showing their ignorance to the world. (unless they don't mind showing the world their lack of knowledge in this regard)

Michael Swenson Alan Beasy Alan your reading of scripture is extremely challenged; not to mention your opinion of the greatest scientific minds that came to examine the Shroud. NOTHING in Holy Writ contradicts the Shroud or it wouldn't have needed the strict examination it has undergone.

Michael Swenson Alan Beasy not only have I read it, but whatever version you are reading must be misleading you. You should examine the Greek Septuagint and definitions. (like the experts did) there is nothing about the Shroud that contradicts the text. (your comprehension notwithstanding) again, the relic itself speaks to its authenticity, so your interpretation is what needs a closer examination, the shroud has obviously undergone much more scrutiny than your private opinion)

Facebook post in the "Creationism - The Official Page" group. The post is from BIBLEHUB.COM and reads: "John 20:7 Interlinear: and the napkin that was upon his head, not lying with the linen...". The post includes a list of Greek words and their English equivalents: χλις (by itself), Adv (1794 [e]), εντελιγμενον (having been folded up), V-RPM/P-ANS (1519 [e]), εις (in), εις (in), Prep (1520 [e]), ηνα (a), Adj-AMS (5117 [e]), topon (place), and N-AMS (AMS).

Below the post, a comment from Alan Beasy says: "Michael Swenson Exactly..... continue the conversation in the other thread with your same answer." The timestamp is 8:42 PM on 10/9/2018.

Continuation of the Facebook post thread. A comment from Michael Swenson says: "Alan Beasy the scriptures record the purchase of a linen cloth for the burial of our Lord Jesus Christ. I think you are sincere, just at the moment in sincere denial of recorded facts and monumental evidence. You don't have to stand on knowledge, truth, reason and facts, but it is the sensible thing to do." He includes a link to a Biblehub article: "https://biblehub.com/mark/15-46.htm - The Burial of Jesus ... 45When Pilate had confirmed it with the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph, 46Joseph bought a linen cloth, took down the body of Jesus, wrapped it in the cloth, and laid it in a tomb that had been cut out of the rock. Then he rolled a stone against the entrance to the tomb. 47Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joseph saw where His body was laid. ...".

Below this, a comment from Alan Beasy says: "I thought you had given it a rest. So you now quote Mark....? As if Mark somehow nullifies the greater detail given by John? I will copy below what I wrote in the other thread. Strips of linen (plural strips) were wound around the body from the feet to the neck and packed with spices. A separate piece was wrapped around the head." The timestamp is 8:43 PM on 10/9/2018.

Creationism - The Official Page

from the feet to the neck and packed with spices. A separate piece was wrapped around the head.

"Nicodemus, who had previously come to Jesus at night, also brought a mixture of myrrh and aloes, about seventy-five pounds. So they took the body of Jesus and wrapped it in linen cloths with the spices according to the Jewish burial custom". John 19:39-40

"Simon Peter arrived just after him. He entered the tomb and saw the linen cloths lying there. The face cloth that had been around Jesus' head was rolled up, lying separate from the linens cloths". John 20:6-7

The "monumental evidence" you speak of is misplaced logic. All this "scientific evidence" means nothing if Jesus was not buried under a single sheet.... but rather, as described by John, was buried with strips of linen wound around his body with a separate piece for the head.

Therefore, you can continue exclaiming awe and wonder about the SOT, but thinking people will not fall for it regardless of all the scientific hocus pocus.

Thankfully, the resurrection of Jesus does not require any proof other than the testimony of the witnesses who were there.

Michael Swenson Alan Beasy further you stated that you believe John's Gospel supersedes Mark's and that is also misuse and misunderstanding of Scripture. ALL of it is Divinely Inspired. So for BOTH accounts to be TRUE, a SINGLE CLOTH of sufficient size covered the entire body of Christ (the shroud) AND other pieces of cloth were used in His burial.

Michael Swenson Alan Beasy that's not what the scriptures state regarding His burial.

The Burial of Jesus
 ...58He went to Pilate to ask for the body of Jesus, and Pilate ordered that it be given to him. 59So Joseph took the body, wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, 60and placed it in his own new tomb that he had cut into the rock. Then he rolled a great stone across the entrance to the tomb and went away....

The Burial of Jesus
 ...45When Pilate had confirmed it with the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph. 46Joseph bought a linen cloth, took down the body of Jesus, wrapped it in the cloth, and laid it in a tomb that had been cut out of the rock. Then he rolled a stone against the entrance to the tomb. 47Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joseph saw where His body was laid....

<https://biblehub.com/interlinear/mark/15-46.htm> - It is singular cloth/shroud not strips that is mentioned in these Gospel locations. Again, you are presuming the experts didn't examine both the historic texts and the shroud. To this very day burial shrouds are still in use. <https://www.shroud.com/pdfs/ssi03part4.pdf>

Michael Swenson Alan Beasy laying aside any part of scripture and observable facts is known as willful ignorance. We are told a single linen cloth was purchased, we are told that there was also a face cloth. It is also recorded customarily that strips of cloth were used to bind hands and feet. In other words, the Shroud has been authenticated and you are in denial. (not by reason, not by facts; just by willful deliberate stubborn ignorance of them) as such you deserve no more efforts at correcting your opinion, seeing that you show you favor it despite all evidence to the contrary. good-bye.

Avoiding Divisions
 9But avoid foolish controversies, genealogies, arguments, and quarrels about the Law, because these things are pointless and worthless. 10Reject a divisive man after a first and second admonition, 11knowing that such a man is corrupt and sinful; he is self-condemned....

Michael Swenson Alan Beasy (and any other skeptics as to the authenticity of the Shroud of Turin being the burial Shroud used on our Crucified and Resurrected Lord Jesus Christ), there is NOTHING in Holy Writ, contents of the Holy Bible that discounts the use of the Shroud in His Burial! NOTHING in Holy writ, contents of the Holy bible that discounts the use of the Shroud in His Burial! TWO Gospels mention that a sheet of fine linen cloth was purchased by a wealthy disciple, Joseph. GET THIS FACT, why mention a piece of fine linen cloth was purchased in two of the Gospels IF that wasn't significant? God foreknows all things. The Gospel of John mentions that other pieces of cloth were used in His Burial, including a face cloth, but this does NOT mean that ONE of those cloths wasn't the Shroud! For example, a news story might report a large crowd showed up at the state capital and another report might state specific persons were there such as the governor. THE TWO ACCOUNTS would BOTH BE TRUE. So it is IMPROPER to set aside the fact that a significant piece of cloth (shroud) was purchased and used in His Burial just because another account tells us it wasn't the ONLY piece used.

To this very day shrouds are still utilized in Jewish burials. "The traditional clothing for burying the dead are tachrichim, simple white shrouds." - <https://www.myjewishlearning.com/article/the-shroud/>

"The Tachrichim consist of the following items of clothing: Shroud, hood, socks and a square piece of fabric to cover the mouth." - <https://cargocollective.com/afterproject/Tachrichim>

The Shroud and rest of the cloths used in burial may yet be purchased even today. https://www.oldcityshrouds.com/.../female-cotton-shroud...

Who else wants to be buried in the manner our Lord Jesus Christ was? If I should rest from my labors before His Glorious Return, I know I do.

Skeptics need to comprehend that the Shroud of Turin was studied down to microscopic details, thousands of tests that confirm the Biblical account in detail, down to the presence of pollens in Jerusalem that confirmed the figure in the Shroud had indeed been crowned with thorns. Thousands of details CONFIRMING AS AUTHENTIC that the Shroud of Turin is in fact that piece of fine crowned with thorns. Thousands of details CONFIRMING AS AUTHENTIC that the Shroud of Turin is in fact that piece of fine linen the disciple Joseph purchased for His Burial. The Resurrected Image on it cannot be reproduced by any known method to date. The scientific findings are so extensive in confirming the details of the recorded history in the Holy Bible; to dismiss them requires: 1) willful ignorance 2) self-delusion or 3) the only rational way to do so would be to allege a conspiracy on the part of all the scientists involved to prolifically lie about all their findings. At this point anyone denying the Shroud of Turin as the authentic burial cloth of our Lord Jesus Christ is either choosing to deny observable reality, Divine Holy Writ, facts of history OR they are accusing the scientists of ALL being prolific liars.

There is much more evidence supporting the historicity of the contents of the Holy Bible and the Divinity of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Michael Swenson Alan Beasy seems stuck on connotations that are probably due to the fact he never has examined jewish burial customs as he originally stated and due to perhaps poor translations or misunderstandings of the contents of the Holy Bible. Jewish burial customs include a shroud, face cloth and some pieces that bind the hands and feet. (they are NOT strips that wrap around the whole body like mummies in movies); they look more like this:

more examples: https://www.google.com/search?q=Tachrichim...

https://www.jewish-funerals.org/tachrichim-suppliers - merchants still sell such shrouds today - https://www.oldcityshrouds.com/.../female-cotton-shroud...

some Jews still hand weave such shrouds:

unless evidence comes forward that ALL the scientists LIED PROLIFICALLY over their findings, the shroud of turin is the burial cloth mentioned in the Holy Bible of our Lord Jesus Christ.
